

Air Force ADR Online Data Collection System Instructions for Administrative Functions

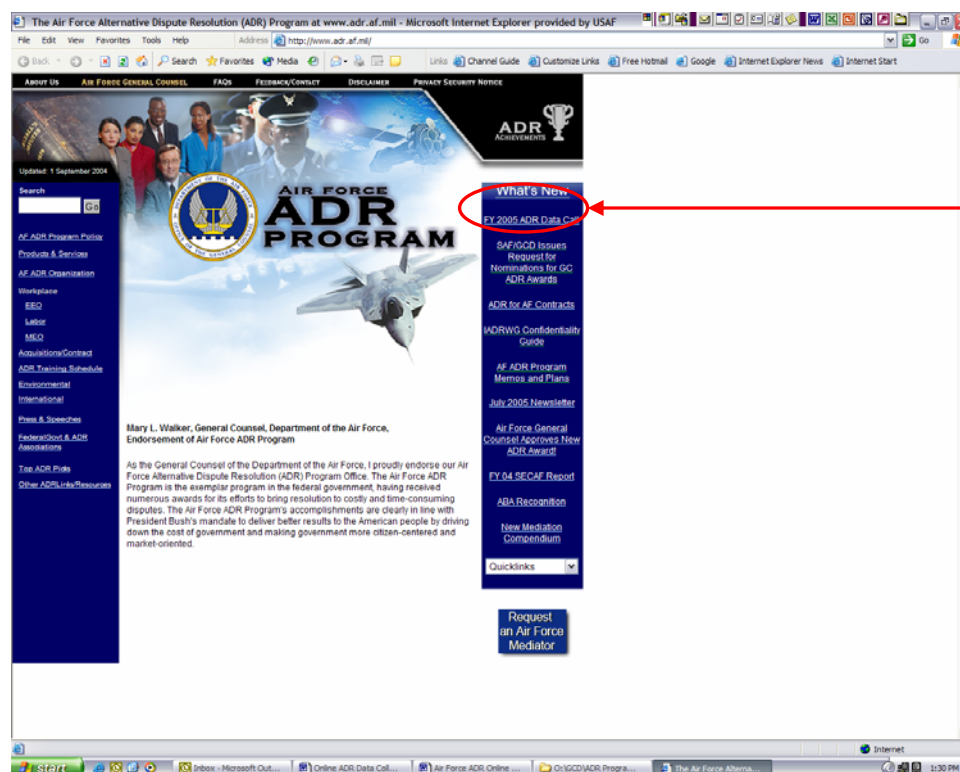

Welcome to the Air Force Online Data Collection tool. This easy-to-use web-based system is intended for base ADR Champions and program managers to report their annual ADR data to SAF/GCD, as provided in AFI 51-1201, paragraphs 38 and 39.

The system is accessible via the Air Force ADR web site homepage at www.adr.af.mil. Click on the link to the data collection program on the What's New menu and you will be directed to the data collection launch page. From there, users can access the data entry module (intended for bases) and MAJCOMs and others with administrative rights can access the admin module. This brief guide will help lead you through the admin module, which is quite simple to use.

Initial Access and Login

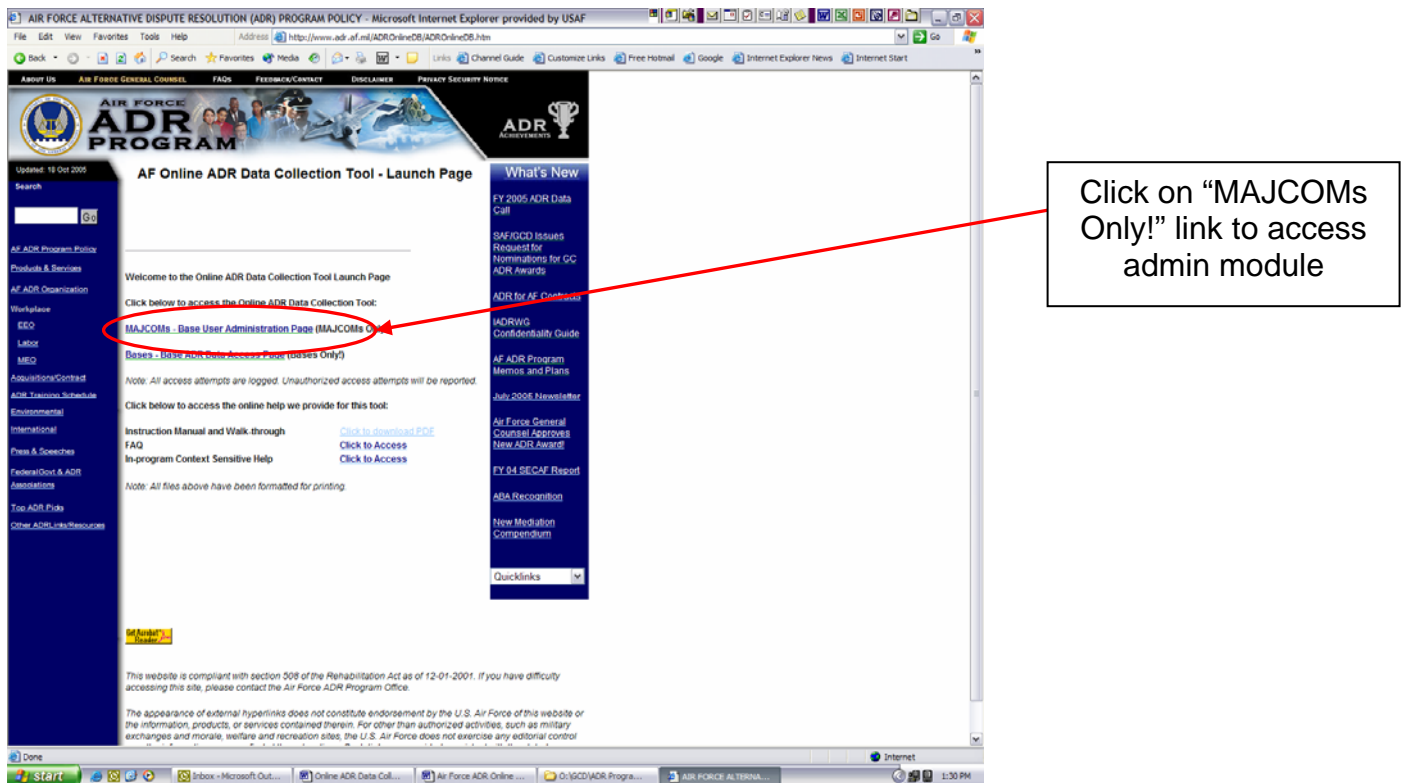

MAJCOM ADR Champions and POCs are provided a user ID and password to log into the admin module. First, access the module via the Air Force ADR website, or you can access the module directly by entering "<http://www.adr.af.mil/admin>" (minus quotations) into your web browser (Internet Explorer version 5.5 or above, or Netscape version 6.1 or Mozilla 1.4 or above). Figures 1 and 2 show you how to access the admin module from the Air Force ADR website.

Once you access the module, you're presented with the Admin Login screen, shown in Figure 3.

Type in your user ID and password in the spaces provided and click the “Login” button. See Figure 4 for an example, using “Country” as the ID and “test” as the password.

After logging in, you will be presented with the admin screen as shown in Figure 5. As you can see, there's not much to click on here. All the action is on the toolbar in the upper left, as indicated by the red circle in Figure 5.

Clicking on the “Admin” link in the menu bar brings down a dropdown menu of “Users.” Clicking on this allows you to browse current authorized users, or add new users. Once in the system, users can be deleted or their information and access rights changed. Let’s begin. If you want to see the list of users, click on “Browse.” This will take you to a list of authorized users currently in the system (if any) and their access level. See Figure 6 for an example of “users” that have already been loaded into the system.

If you want to add a new user, click on the “Add User” link (circled in red in Figure 6). This will bring up a new page for you to enter information for the new user. See Figure 7. The most critical information is the new user’s “email” address and password, and level of access (there are three levels of access for base personnel: view only, view and edit, and view, edit, and verify). The email address you enter here can be the user’s actual e-mail address, or anything else you specify. Whatever you put here will serve as the user’s User ID. When authorizing access, you’ll want to make sure that at least one individual at each of your bases has full “ViewEditVerify” access rights to the data entry module so the base’s report can be properly completed.

On the “Add User” page you can also supply the new user’s name, phone number and office symbol if you desire. This information is optional, but it’s a good idea to supply it anyway so you know who your base POC(s) is/are if you need to discuss the base’s report with them. Especially if you authorize multiple users at a single base, you’ll want to supply names and contact information in order to distinguish between them.

- Add New User (Section Header)
- Email (Text input field)
- Password (Text input field)
- Group (Dropdown menu with options: ViewEditVerify, [New])
- Main ID (Text input field with a dropdown menu showing '2 - BASE Spain MAJCOM: Country')
- Status (Dropdown menu with options: Active, Inactive)
- First Name (Text input field)
- Last Name (Text input field)
- Phone (Text input field)
- Office (Text input field)
- Add (Submit button)

Annotations on the form:

- A red circle highlights the 'Email' and 'Password' fields, with a red arrow pointing to a box labeled 'Required info'.
- Red arrows point from a box labeled 'Names and contact info are optional' to the 'First Name', 'Last Name', 'Phone', and 'Office' fields.

At the bottom of the page, it states: 'Developed for and licensed to the Air Force Alternative Dispute Resolution Program'. Below this, it says: 'formVista generated this page in: 0.6091 seconds', 'Copyright © 1997 - 2004 DTLink Software', and 'All Rights Reserved'.

To illustrate how you can add new users, let's add the fictional "Tom Terrific" as a new user. See Figure 8 on the next page. For purposes of this demonstration, we're including the new user's name and contact information.

After filling in the fields, click on the “Add” button, circled in red in Figure 8. This will give you a new screen showing the new user, as shown in Figure 9.

Now click the “List Users” link (circled in red in Figure 9), and your user list will be updated to include the newly added user, “Tom Terrific.” See Figure 10. As shown in the highlighted listing, Tom has view, edit and verify rights for his base’s report. Click on “Add User” again if you need to add another users.

The screenshot shows the ADR Admin Control Panel with the 'Authorized Users' list. The list has columns: Email, First Name, Last Name, Office, Group, Added On, Main ID, maicom, and Status. The users listed are Spain, Madrid, Cambridge, and a new user 'Invuser' (Tom Terrific). Annotations point to 'Spain' for editing and the new user.

Email	First Name	Last Name	Office	Group	Added On	Main ID	maicom	Status
Spain				Country	2005-10-14 14:48:12	2	Country	active
Madrid				Country	2005-10-14 14:48:12	3	Country	active
Cambridge				Country	2005-10-14 14:48:12	4	Country	active
Invuser	Tom	Terrific	1FW/CCD	Country	2005-10-14 14:48:12	2	Country	active

What if you want to edit a user’s information or remove the user altogether from the list? You do that by clicking on the user under the “Email” column in the list of authorized users. This will take you to an “Edit User” screen for that user. For example, if you want to edit “Spain’s” user data, or delete “Spain” altogether, click on “Spain” under the “Email” column as shown in Figure 8. This will take you to the “Edit User” screen for Spain, as shown in Figure 11.

That's all there is to the admin functions for this program. Initially, SAF/GCD will assign one user ID and one password for each base in your MAJCOM. Single-site DRUS and FOAs (AF Academy, 11th Wing/AFDW and AIA) will have a user ID and password that will log them in to both the admin module and the data entry module. The user IDs will be in an e-mail address format, identifying both the base and the MAJCOM (or DRU/FOA). For example, Eglin AFB would have the following user ID: "Eglin@AFMC.adr." This particular format is not required for user IDs, but it is the format that was used for testing the program and was therefore felt safest to use in the initial rollout. MAJCOM ADR Champions or their designees can access the admin module using their user ID and password at any time to add new users at their bases or change user IDs and passwords for their bases as they deem necessary.

If you have any questions about use of the admin module, check out the online FAQ file, or contact SAF/GCD. Technical questions about use of the admin module should be directed to Ervin Warner at DSN 425-2208, or by e-mail to ervin.dawsonwarner@pentagon.af.mil. Other questions can also be directed to Marc Van Nuys at DSN 425-2221, or by e-mail to marc.vannuys@pentagon.af.mil.
